

Admissions Committee
Annual Report
June 12, 2018

We all know that inviting outstanding women to membership in The Weeders is the only way our group will be as much of a force in the future as it has been for over 100 years. When I joined in 1988, it was with the great reservation that membership in a garden club was never on my to-do list. I really had no idea what to expect.

Fast forward thirty years... The Weeders has changed. I have changed. But what has not changed is the wonderful experience of being among a group of talented women who share a keen interest in many aspects of the natural world.

As outgoing chair of the Admissions Committee, I urge you all to keep in mind that bringing new members into our special group is how we will be as relevant in the year 2027 as when we were founded in 1907.

The past year has been a busy one for the Admissions Committee. Since last June, we have welcomed four delightful women to The Weeders: Heather Gallagher, Marty Morse, Jen Fryberger and Mariana Wilson. Thanks to them for joining us, rather than some other group, and thanks to the members of the Admissions Committee for making the admissions process run smoothly.

Respectfully submitted,
Cheryl Cheston, Chair
