Christmas Sale-Robin Smith delivered a lively request to start thinking about items that can be brought to the christmas sale this year. Polly reported that there are no institutions that are willing to accept tabletop arrangements, so that will be eliminated from the Christmas meeting going forward.

Community Affairs

Gazebo Gardens-Cheryl Cheston encouraged members to come out for fall clean up day and she will offer lunch afterwards.

Hilltop House Gardens-Nancy Holmes reported that four benches and 6 urns will be provided by the township.

Final Weeder Meeting Minutes September 20,2022

Ronald McDonald House-zinnia arrangements were done in august procured from Maple Acres Farm in Plymouth Meeting-also discussed is that there are other produce items for sale at that farm and open to the public.

Jeanes Library-Beth Bartle reported that due to such a hot summer, weeding didn't always occur but is scheduled for thursday mornings.

Strafford Station-Melissa Oeth reported that 7 containers of new plantings were tended on tuesday mornings at 9am.

Conservation-Lloyd Brown stated that this year conservation will use Dough Tallamy's book "Nature's best hope" as the guide for activities and they will provide a tip of the month . This month's tip is to plant oak trees (many varieties for various spaces) which is the best tree to provide for caterpillars and birds.

Crazy for Containers-Ellyn Spragins asked for feedback from members regarding the quality and likes or dislikes of the previous year's offerings.

Data Base/Governance-Ellie Penniman reported that the Conestoga intern was able to complete several years of the database and asked for feedback regarding any mistakes. She also requested the name of CPA to do an audit of the books (as is normal for any change in treasurer personnel).

Fertilizer Fund-Karen Shepard described the fertilizer fund as the vehicle by which the PCGCA donates to urban gardens in the area. She requests 100% participation by the Weeders.

Flower Show-Jeanne May stated that next year the flower show will be on a Monday, with the program being given the next day so that flower show workers may attend the lecture.

Garden History and Design-no report

GCA Bulletin, Membership/Hospitality-Marily Sprague stated that the new member reception will be in November.

Horticulture-Jeanne May gave the tip of the month which is that now is the time to cut back peonies. Alice Doering also requested feedback from members regarding a good challenge plant to propose. The pruning workshop will also be postponed.

Photography-Melissa Bullitt reminded members to start taking photographs now for the spring show. There will be a Photography workshop on November 3 focusing on the mounting process for photographs.

Print and Communications/Trips and Tours-Cheryl Cheston stated that there will be a member's garden tour again in the spring of members in the western suburbs.

Program-Laura Carpenter said the February meeting will be done on zoom with other clubs to discuss bird migration.

Scholarship-a request for names of potential recipients was requested.

Visiting Gardens-Polly Garnett gave a reminder to ask her to procure garden tours if members are going elsewhere on trips.

It was announced that Bidy Edwards was featured in the CGA Bulletin describing members who have a great commitment to conservation.

Website-Elaine Lisle has updated the membership directory and is now the chairwoman.

The meeting was adjourned at 11:38 am and Laura Carpenter introduced the speaker, Beth Adams, who described the non -profit organization she founded in 2018 called "Petals Please". Since that time, they have delivered over 75,000 bouquets to the elderly, first line responders, teachers and school bus drivers. The flowers are donated and sourced from funeral homes or brides who would like to donate the flowers that were used in the services. It is entirely run by volunteers. She said that they also welcome other community members to help make arrangements and have had school groups and others who come together to design these bouquets.

Respectfully submitted,

Heather Gallagher

A Tale of Two Biddies
(with apologies to Charles Dickens)
On Their Birthdays, September 21 and 22

Alice Doering and Sally Wood – you are dear to every Weeder's heart

Our two illustrious Weeders were born one day apart.

At Mount Holyoke, they both went to college

Not sure if that was the origin of their horticultural knowledge.

But it began a life-long friendship, that is so clear,

And they contribute so much to all holding them dear.

They both came to Philly, and each a lawyer did marry

These numerous similarities are downright scary.

They had a business together – of course landscape design,

And together guided gardening all over the Main Line.

They joined the Weeders, four years apart, it appears

And jointly contributed over 104 years.

Each served as President, and headed many a committee

Too many to list in this little ditty.

Both were honored with the Dorothy Falcon Platt award, oh so fine;

For best in the whole zone in hort, artistry, and design.

At Jenkins Arboretum, they served on the board and as valued volunteers

In addition to other great community service over the years.

Unequalled for their contributions to all lucky Weeders,

They are truly our team of exceptional leaders.

So we wish Happy Birthdays on your special date

As tomorrow and the next day, you each celebrate.

All our best to Alice and Sally

As accomplishments, not years, are what we will tally.
